On the evening of Tuesday, September 26, members of the America's Grow-a-Row staff attended Nina Cruz's art exhibition at ArtsQuest Center at SteelStacks in Bethlehem, PA, highlighting not only her artwork but also volunteerism. The art exhibition, entitled "The New Black - Volunteerism" is about people and community and the amazing giving capacity of the human spirit. The exhibition features stunning wood stain paintings of volunteers accompanied by their own words of encouragement to inspire others to go out and do good. Three America's Grow-a-Row volunteers were featured in the exhibition which runs through October 29. For more information about the exhibit, please visit <http://www.cruzcreate.com/show.html>

America's Grow-a-Row, located in Pittstown, New Jersey, is a non-profit organization that grows and gleans fresh, healthy fruits and vegetables that are donated to those facing hunger throughout the state of New Jersey and beyond. America's Grow-a-Row, with the help of 9,000 volunteers, will plant, harvest and coordinate the distribution of approximately 1.2 million pounds of free produce this year.
